BIOFACH, 13-16 February, 2019, Nuremberg, Germany

The organic trade meets at the organic exhibition from 13 -16 February, 2019 in Nuremberg, Germany. Organic is more than a label or certification: organic stands for quality and conviction – for the responsible use of nature’s resources. The world’s leading exhibition is the get-together for customers, suppliers, all partners and potential new customers. Nowhere else do all the organic stakeholders meet personally in a comparable way than at BIOFACH. The BIOFACH Congress provides extensive information about the organic sector. 9,000 congress participants sourced information at more than 150 individual events in 2018. As a visiting professional you can meet organic producers from the international organic market and be inspired by the sector’s latest international trends. For more details, please visit the website: www.biofach.de/en.

ENFORCE TAC, 6-7 March, 2019, Nuremberg, Germany

ENFORCE TAC, the International trade fair for command, control and operational equipment used by security agencies starting from 6-7 March 2019 in Nuremberg, Germany. Find everything official security experts need for their professional work: whether police equipment, security or tactical solutions, at Enforce Tac 2019 you can see the latest trends and products in a discreet atmosphere and at international level. The hard job of security experts from the police, judiciary, border protection, customs, military police and armed forces demands the latest security equipment and arrest, interception and overpowering techniques to ensure the best possible protection of operational forces against fatal injuries. Besides guns, ballistic accessories, optronics and tactical equipment, the exhibitors at Enforce Tac therefore present operational clothing such as bullet-proof vests, stab-proof vests, body protection, face protection, shields and helmets. For more details, please visit www.enforcetac.com/en

U.T.SEC, 6-7 March, 2019, Nuremberg, Germany

U.T.SEC – Summit for Drones, Unmanned Technologies & Security starting from 6-7 March 2019 in Nuremberg, Germany. U.T.SEC provides a platform for the forward-looking topic of unmanned vehicles, with a focus on their use by security agencies. The emphasis is on the technical, legal and – most importantly – practical opportunities to improve security, with a focus on both the use of drones, and defence against them. Security agencies like the police, Customs, border protection and the armed forces, as well as other authorities and organisations with official security tasks, e.g. the fire brigade, the civil protection organisation "Bundesanstalt Technisches Hilfswerk" and the emergency services, and an exclusive group of security companies, will meet at U.T.SEC for discussion, to nurture contacts, and expand their knowledge. Enforce Tac, the special trade fair for command, control and operational equipment used by security agencies, with about 260 prominent exhibitors, also takes place in parallel with U.T.SEC in 2019. The close spatial connection between the two events means that U.T.SEC enjoys the direct attention of 3,500 additional international trade visitors with a strong interest in forward-looking security solutions. For more details please visit www.utsec.de/en
